GIVES MILLION FOR DESERTED WOMEN

Richard T. Crane, Foe of Colleges,
Provides for Novel Institution.

Chicago, Ill., January 23.—The sum of $2,135,000 from the fortune of the late Richard T. Crane, multimillionaire ironmaster of Chicago, will be devoted to charitable works. This became known today when the will was filed for probate.

One striking and original feature is the establishment of a fund to provide homes in the country and means of sustaining them for families deserted by husbands. Crane's sons, Charles R. and Richard T. Crane, Jr., were named executors to serve without bond.

Mrs. Crane, the widow, was given the palatial home at 2541 Michigan avenue for life; the summer home at Lake Geneva and a yearly allowance of $15,000, in addition to provisions made for her in an antenuptial agreement.

The will disposes of property estimated at value as high as $20,000,000. Charles R. and Richard T., the sons, will get perhaps the major portion of their father's property. The third son, Herbert P. Crane, and several daughters, the will states, had been cared for previously.

WILL OUTLINES BENEFICENCE.

The will gives no more than an outline of Crane's plans for charities. Crane's attorney, John P. Wilson, Jr., announced the bequest of the multimillionaire had planned to carry out their father's wishes, although his sudden death had prevented provision in his will.

The charities planned by Mr. Crane to be executed by his sons are: One million dollar endowment for pension fund for benefit of Crane Company employees.

One million dollars to establish homes for dependent widows near Chicago, together with manual training schools for children of the dependents.

One hundred thousand dollars to the United Charities as endowment for the Mary Crane Day Nursery. Twenty-five thousand dollars to the Visiting Nurse Association. Ten thousand dollars to Lake Geneva Fresh Air Home.

With the bequest of the Lake Geneva summer home to his widow, Crane stipulated with it was to go the land on which the home stands, with the exception of those portions occupied by his children, who are to have use of the land of life.

The payment of Mrs. Crane's annual allowance of $15,000 is ordered to begin on the date of the death and to be made in equal quarterly installments. After making his specific bequests Crane's will continues with the disposition of his property as follows:

"I do give and bequeath all the real residue and remainder of my estate to my two sons, Charles R. and Richard T. Crane, Jr., and direct that the acceptance by them shall be construed as an agreement to provide $15,000 annually for Mrs. Crane, my wife.

"In making this will I have made no particular provision for my daughters, nor for my son, Herbert P. Crane, believing that they already have been well provided for. But, Charles R. Crane and R. T. Crane, Jr., being practically my successors in business, will be required to assist them if they are ever in want."

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested just now. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immortality by its remarkable cure of colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

The Poultry Yard.

Keep a little gas-tar on hand and apply it for really eggs.

You can tell a laying hen as far as you can see her. Her comb is always bright and healthy looking.

February hatched chicks are apt to molt in the fall and will not be worth anything for egg production in winter.

Turkeys more than any other poultry seem to require fresh air. They will roost in trees during a snow-storm and not seem to mind it a bit.

Forcing laying hens with stimulants of any kind except those nature supplies in good food, is a dangerous and costly process in the long run.

Soak stale bread in sweet skim-milk press out the milk as completely as possible, and feed the chicks. Also keep coarse sand before them; without it the chicks can not grind their food.

Put some oats in a box that will not leak; wet them thoroughly with warm water, cover them well, let them stand one whole day, then turn them into a box that does leak. Keep putting warm water on them morning and night till sprouts are well started. Spread them out thinly, moisten morning and keep them up till the sprouts are of the required length. Some folks let them grow a foot long. No fatter fowl for the birds than out sprouts.

Hens will soon be bringing good prices and the high price will tempt many farmers to sell their hens off too cheaply. It will pay the average farmer to keep a goodly number of hens the year around. When hatching time comes, if incubators and brooders are not used, it takes several hens to do the work of hatching and rearing the chicks, and we like to have enough others to keep the egg-baskets filled. Eggs to sell every week means a small bill at the grocery. Can't have the eggs unless we hold on to enough hens.—Farm Journal.

Will Sell Fair Grounds.

The Elizabethtown Mirror says: The directors of the Hardin county Fair Association met Monday and ordered the Fair Grounds sold on the first day of the March term of Circuit court. The object of the association was to increase the capital stock from $3,925 to 5,500 in order to pay off the floating indebtedness and repair the Fair Grounds buildings. The wear and tear of time have impaired the buildings which require immediate improvement, while the floating indebtedness of about $700 has been a troublesome question with the association. A larger capital should satisfy the indebtedness, make necessary improvements and put the fair upon an operating basis, hence the object in increasing the capital stock.

This plan is really worth between $8,000 and $9,000, but if sold at auction it would realize only about one-half of this amount. The sale of the Fair Grounds would be a retrograding step on the part of Elizabethtown and Hardin county and should by all means be avoided. The county fair has generally paid a dividend, and the re-capitalization would be a paying investment. As the matter now stands, if the requisite amount is not raised between the present time and the March term of Circuit Court, the property will be sold.

Blind Dizzy Spells.

Wilmington, N. C.—Mrs. Cora L. Ritter, writes from this place: "I used to have blind dizzy spells, and weak cold spells went all over me. Different doctors could not tell me what was wrong. After taking Cardui I am all right and in better health than for 10 years." Cardui is a remedy for women which has been used by women for nearly a lifetime. It prevents the unnecessary pains of female troubles, such as headache, back-ache, etc. Try it. E-23.

Five Million of Tobacco Sold.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23.—One of the largest deals of leaf tobacco in the local market for some time was consummated Monday when the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company sold E. J. O'Brien & Co., 5,000,000 pounds of dark tobacco for export, mostly to England. The deal, for which approximately $400,000 was paid is of uniform type from Warren, Barron and adjoining territory, and is this year's leaf. During the latter part of December Mr. O'Brien closed a large contract to supply the French Government with Kentucky tobacco and part will go to that country.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

CONSERVE OF GINGER.

To make this delicious sweet from a syrup of two cupsful of sugar and one of water. When it boils skim well. Cut one-fourth of a pound of ginger root into small pieces, boil in water for one hour, drain, cover with some of the syrup and boil slowly for one or one-half hours. Take up, drain, dip ones more into the syrup, cook well, roll into the sugar and pack in jars, with sugar thickly sprinkled between the layers.

GINGER APPLES.

Select good cooking apples as nearly of a size as possible. Remove the cores carefully and enough of the rind to make a little cup, fill the cavity in each with preserved ginger and nut meats well mixed together, put them in a baking dish and make a sugar syrup, flavor with bits of orange peel, bake with the syrup and bake until done, but do not allow to fall to pieces. Serve hot or cold, as preferred, with a rich cream sauce in which are bits of preserved ginger.

GINGER MOLD.

Three ounces of preserved ginger minced quite fine, two ounces of crushed macaroons, the grated rind of a lemon, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, nearly a gill of cold milk, a quarter of a pint of rich cream, three-quarters of a pint of custard flavored with ginger extract, one heaping teaspoonful of powdered gelatin, soak the gelatin in the milk for a few minutes, then dissolve it over the fire. Whip the cream to a stiff froth, add the sugar, lemon rind, macaroons and chopped ginger. Mix thoroughly then again in the dissolved gelatin. Stir occasionally until beginning to set and pour into a mold previously rinsed in cold water. Set the mold on ice in a cool place and when firm turn out to serve.

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Raised Me From the Grave"—Mrs. Taylor

This is a strong statement to make, but it is exactly what Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Blum, Texas, said in expressing her opinion of this remedy.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine raised me from the grave and I have much confidence in it. I can never say enough for your grand medicine. If anyone had offered me $100.00 for the second bottle of Nervine that I used I would have said 'no indeed.'"

MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR,
Blum, Tex.

Nervous exhaustion is a common occurrence of modern life.

The wear and tear on the nervous system is greater now than at any time since the world began. For sleeplessness, poor appetite and that "run down" feeling, nothing is so good as

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Rev. Richeson Very Ill.

Boston, Jan. 23.—To an inspection committee of the City Council, Sheriff John Quinn, Jr., declared today that the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Avis Linnell, was in a dying condition, although it was expected that he would survive until the day set for the execution, May 19.

Richeson was introduced to the members of the committee. The Councilors said that Richeson looked very weak and emaciated. His cheeks were sunken and very white. "I am feeling better than I did," said Richeson in reply to a question of one of the Council.
